Ambassador To United States Officiates At Elaborate Ceremonies

Rene de Saint Quentin, French Ambassador to the United States, formally dedicates the French Pavilion on Constitution Mall at the Lagoon of Nations at 11 A.M. today.

Present at the ceremonies will be a galaxy of French and United States Government officials, representatives of the New York City and State Government, members of various French societies and organizations in New York and vicinity and other leaders in the city's business, artistic and social life.

Following the dedicatory rites, the Ambassador, his official party and other speakers and invited guests will visit the French Overseas Pavilion in the Hall of Nations where they will see exhibits devoted to French protectorates and possessions, including Morocco.

Returning to the French Pavilion, the party will attend a reception there at which champagne and other refreshments will be served.

At 9 P.M. tonight the theatre in the Pavilion will be dedicated with impressive ceremonies. The inaugural show of the theatre will then be performed. Curtain time will be 10.30 P.M. At 11 P.M. a cold supper will be served to 500 guests.

At the dedicatory exercises this morning, the speakers will stand on the balcony of the mezzanine floor of the Pavilion. Accommodations for over 2,000 people in the open space facing the Pavilion will be prepared.

In addition to the French Am-

Britain Celebrates Empire Day at Fair Today

GUEST SPEAKER

MARCEL OLIVIER

Former Governor General of Madagascar, who speaks today at exercises marking the dedication of the French Pavilion on Constitution Mall at the League of Nations.

The picture will be shown at 3:45 P.M. and at 5:30 P.M. L. R. Macgregor, Commissioner General for Australian Participation in the Fair, will present Edward J. Flynn, United States Commissioner General with a copy of the Australian Constitution for transmission to President Roosevelt.

Immediately after this presentation, which will take place in the theatre of the U. S. Government Building, the Australian group will be transported in Fair buses to the Australian Pavilion for the reception.

Another highlight in the Empire Day program will be the visit to the Fair of Vice-Admiral Sir Sydney Meyrick, Commander-in-Chief of the American and West Indian Squadron of the British Navy. He will be a guest of Grover A. Whalen, president of the Fair Corporation, at luncheon in Perlyon Hall. He will review a military parade in the Court of Peace at 1 P.M.

In the evening at 7:00 P.M. the choir from St. Thomas' Church, Manhattan, will present a choral program in the garden including religious anthems and folk songs of English, Scotch, Irish and Welsh origin.

The first concert by the Coldstream Guards Band, under the direction of Captain J. Causley Windram, will be given in the bandstand in the English garden at 2:45 P.M.

Showings of films depicting scenes and activities in Australia, New Zealand, Canada and other British possessions will be staged in the Pavilion Cinema Theatre at 2 P.M., 3:30 P.M. and 6 P.M.

The Coldstream Guards Band will play again in the garden at 6:45 P.M. and render its final concert of the night at 8 P.M.

Among the many organizations which are present at the Fair today in response to the invitations of Sir Louis Beale, Commissioner General for British Participation in the Fair, are the Daughters of the British Empire. This group is observing Empire Day by attending the various events centering about the British Pavilion. They are having lunch at 1 P.M. in the Sulgrave Club in the Merrie England Exhibit.

CLIMAX

M. GARREAU-DOMBASIE

Commissioner General for French Participation in the Fair whose long efforts on behalf of his Government is climaxed today.

ON VIEW AT FRENCH ART EXHIBIT

The above picture of Frang, painting of Empress Marie Louise and the Prince Imperial is on display in the French Art Exhibit in the French Pavilion, which is formally dedicated today. The painting has been loaned to the Fair from the Louvre in Paris.

Historical And Art Treasures Of Louis XIII, XIV, XV Exhibited

With the formal opening of the French Pavilion today, the French Exhibition of historical and art treasures housed in the Pavilion is open to the public.

Georges Wildenstein, noted art authority of Paris and director of this section of France's World's Fair display, with the assistance of Willy Remon, technical adviser, has arranged the exhibition in eleven rooms of priceless art treasures representing 500 years of French art and French taste, from 1400 to 1900.

Each room represents an historical period or an epoch dominated by a French kind. The first is the gothic period and the succeeding rooms are named for Henry IV, Louis XIII, Louis XIV, the Regency, Louis XV, Marie Antoinette, the Directoire, Hubert Robert, the Empire of Napoleon I and III and XIV century. Instead of a cold display of art objects, however, each room is completely of the period, from panelled walls to the smallest decorative details. In every room the royal personage about whom the epoch centered is represented by a portrait.

One of the greatest treasures of the exhibition Mr. Wildenstein discovered in the Musée de l'Armée, the war museum of the Invalides of Paris. It is a full length portrait of Napoleon in his coronation robes as Emperor, painted by the great artist Ingres. The picture had been in the museum since Napoleon's day and was so covered with the grime of years that the museum officials had forgotten it. One day, going through the museum in search of material for this exhibition, Mr. Wildenstein studied it, had a feeling that it was a great work of art in spite of the fact that it was practically invisible, had it cleaned at his own expense, and discovered the Ingres masterpiece.

The boudoir in which the young princess Marie Antoinette heard the news that she was to become the bride of the Dauphin of France—news which thrilled her beyond anticipation at the time—has been brought intact to feature the display.

Many old friendships will be renewed and many new friendships formed when citizens of France meet the citizens of our country in the French Pavilion on the Lagoon of Nations.

President of the Fair Corporation.

World War Vets Attend Peace Pageant

Romanian Band
And Mme. Pia Igy
Participate

A Peace Pageant performed by members of the Fidac, an international organization of World War veterans, will feature the celebration of American Legion Auxiliary Day at the Fair today.

The pageant, participated in by representatives of 23 different countries, will be held in the Court of Peace, beginning at 2 P.M.

Music will be furnished by a Romanian Band in national costume. Mme. Pia Igy, noted Romanian opera and concert star, will sing a number of selections.

More than 4,000 members of the American Legion Auxiliary, from all over the country, and of the Fidac, will be present at the ceremonies. Guests will include the Commissioners General of a number of foreign countries participating in the Fair, including Great Britain, France, Belgium, Portugal, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Greece and Yugoslavia.

The pageant was written by Mrs. Bel MacIntosh Oxholm and Mrs. Ida Nora Ashby of the American Legion Auxiliary.

ON THE LEFT WE HAVE . . .

Spielers on the sight-seeing buses must keep talking. And that accounts for some strange utterances. Passing the Bridge of Tomorrow, a bus load of sightseers was informed that Mr. Grover Whalen, president of the Fair, had this bridge designed originally for his private use only. Just in case . . .

LEGION SINGER

MME. PIA IGY

Noted Romanian operatic and concert singer, who sings today at a peace pageant staged in the Court of Peace by the Fidac in conjunction with American Legion Auxiliary Day.

READY FOR DEDICATION

Throngs entering the Hall of Transformation in the Jewish Palestine Pavilion, dominated by a huge statue typifying the Jewish pioneers in the Holy Land.

Dr. Einstein Principal Speaker At Palestine Pavilion Sunday

Dr. Albert Einstein, noted scientist, will be the principal speaker at impressive ceremonies next Sunday marking the dedication of the Jewish Palestine Pavilion on John Jay street in the Community Interests Zone.

The exercises will be held in the Court of Peace, where an audience of 100,000, including Federal, State and City officials, American-Jewish leaders and representatives of 70 nation-wide American-Jewish organizations, will assemble.

Dr. Einstein, who has long been a sympathetic observer of Jewish pioneering efforts in the Holy Land, will deliver his address from the speakers' rostrum in the Court of Peace.

The Jewish Palestine Pavilion was recently opened to the public, before its dedication, because of the pressure of public demand. Exhibits on display illustrate the dramatic transformation of Palestine's swamplands and deserts into a healthful, flourishing country in the short space of two decades.

New England Women Attend Luncheon

Dr. Frank Monaghan, Director of the Department of Research of the World's Fair, addresses 250 members of the National Society of New England Women at a luncheon in the Casino of Nations on Park Row today.

After the luncheon, the New England women will visit the New England exhibit in the Court of States. Mrs. Parlan Semple, Jr., is president of the Society.

Three Fair Residents Among Guests On Welcome Neighbor Program

The only two families who live on the New York World's Fair site will meet for the first time tonight as guests of Dave Driscoll and Jerry Danzig, Mutual's radio hosts, on the Welcome Neighbor program. The program will originate in the Crosley Building, in the center of the Communications Zone of the Fair, and will be heard from 8:30 to 9:00 P.M. EDT over WOR and the coast-to-coast network of the Mutual Broadcasting System. After the Fair closes for the day only Henry Breckenridge, farmer on the Firestone World's Fair Farm, and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Moulton, who are farming on the Electric Utilities Electrified Farm, stay on. They've been too busy in the month they've been living at the Fair to go visiting, and this will be the first chance they've had to get together and discuss mutual livestock and farming problems.

Among the other guests whom Dave and Jerry will call to their mikes tonight are two diamond cutters who are currently practicing their gem-shaping art in the Colonies Wing of the Belgium Pavilion; Eiler Jorgensen, maitre d'hotel at the Danish Pavilion restaurant; O. R. Pilat, New York Post feature writer who is covering the daily Fair fun and phantasmagoria; and several visitors to the Fair from all parts of the nation. In honor of the visiting British cruiser H.M.S. Berwick, feted today by the Fair officially, Dave and Jerry will interview a sailor from the Berwick.

So large have been the crowds trying to witness the Welcome Neighbor broadcast in the Crosley Building that this week the "D Boys" will move from the studios in the building out into the middle of the hall, so that everyone can be accommodated.

10,000 Butchers Visit World of Tomorrow

In groups of 50 to 100, each under the guidance of a shepherd, approximately 10,000 members of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America are seeing the Fair today.

In the second of the two days designated as Butchers' Day, the meat cutters, luggers, scalers, sheep and cattle killers, poultry workers are investigating the status of the food industry in the World of Tomorrow.

Chief shepherd of the visiting butchers is Joseph Belsky, Eastern States vice-president of the International Union.

NEW YORK OF 1892

Lowe was Mayor, Bill Devere was Chief of Police and Inspector Burns was chief of detectives in the New York of 1892, a typical section of which is faithfully reproduced in the "Forward March of America" exhibit of the Electric Utilities at the Fair.

INSIDE OUT

It certainly looks as if they constructed this building, which houses the exhibits of the United States Steel Corporation at the Fair, inside out. Note the structural steel girders on the exterior of the edifice. This was done to emphasize the importance of steel in construction.

Mary R. Beard Talks To Women's City Club

Two hundred members of the Women's City Club will hear an address by Mary R. Beard, noted authoress, in the Science and Education Auditorium, on Constitution Mall, at the Theme Plaza, at 2 P.M. today.

Mrs. Beard, co-author with her husband, Charles A. Beard, of "The Rise of American Civilization", will speak on "Woman's Vision of the World of Tomorrow."

Mrs. Samuel Sloane Duryee, president of the Women's City Club and Mrs. David Dunlop, head the committee which arranged the club's celebration at the Fair today.

World of Shining Metal Forecast In Exhibit Of U. S. Steel Co.

The age-old proverb, "Tomorrow never comes," has been discredited today as the curtain of time is drawn back at the "Hall of the Future," a feature of the United States Steel subsidiaries exhibit at the Fair.

COST $100,000,000

There are more than 200 separate buildings in the Exhibit Area of the Fair alone. Their cost is well over $100,000,000. And they tell the stories of industry, government, science and the arts with an effectiveness never before equalled.

Farms operated by radio control, prefabricated houses with rooms sliding in place like the drawers of a desk, and elevated pneumatic tubes in which the traveler will be sped to his destination by currents of air, all appear in model form.

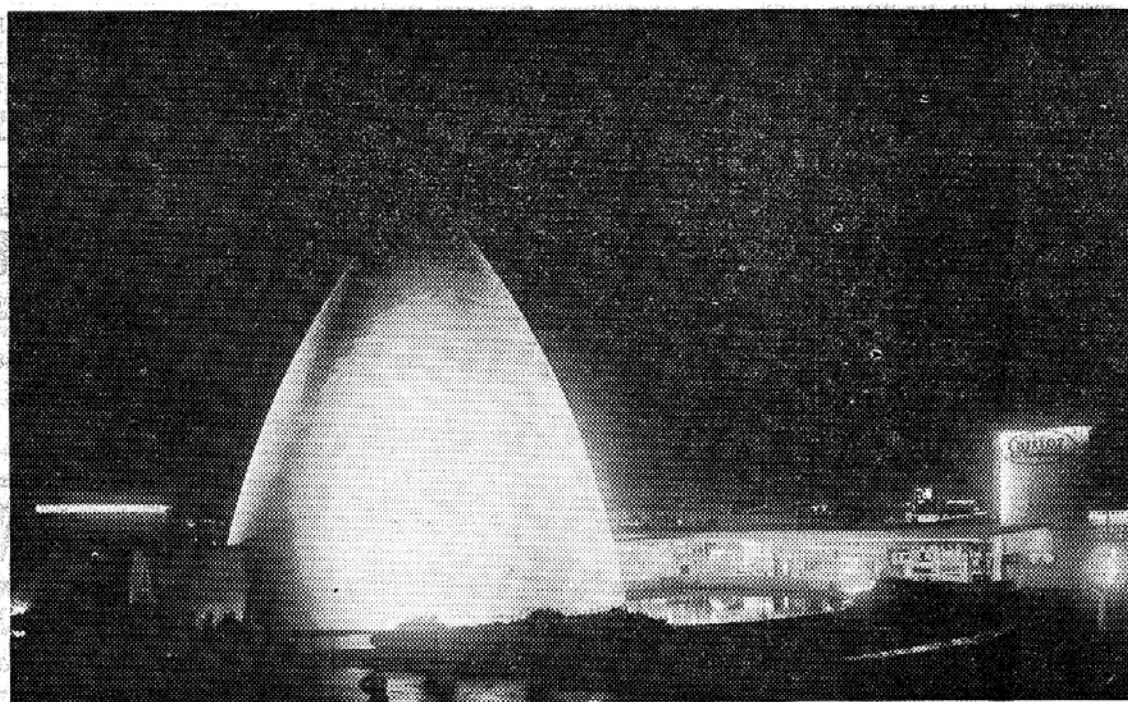

The exhibit, in addition to telling the story of steel in the "World of Tomorrow," gives dramatic representation of steel in the world of today. Animated dioramas, suggested by the keen interest that has been shown in the story of steel presented by the technicolor picture, "Steel—Man's Servant," bring close-up views of the steel industry.

Furnishing an opportunity for visitors to enjoy the spectacular beauty accompanying the handling of molten metal, the blast furnace and open-hearth dioramas reproduce pouring scenes in which lighting effects re-create the dazzling spectacles familiar to the steelworker.

Keyed to the theme of the exhibit, "Steel Thinks Ahead," the Hall of Research shows how scientists seek new fields of service for man's most useful metal and how intensive study of the properties of steel makes possible the steelmaker's control of more than a thousand different forms of his product.

The United States Steel Subsidiaries exhibit, located just east of the Fair's theme center, is housed in steel's "inside-out" house, with the supporting trusses forming a part of the building's streamlined exterior. The building, constructed in the form of a dome 66 feet high and 132 feet wide, has a skin made up of 28,000 feet of stainless steel, and the structure provides over 9,000 feet of exhibit space.

IGLOO OF TOMORROW

A striking night view of the Carrier Corporation's Igloo of Tomorrow which is part of the extensive Carrier Exhibit on Commerce Circle at World's Fair Boulevard Gate. The inside of the igloo is featured by a reproduction of the "Northern Lights" which glow from the ceiling. Exhibits demonstrate the operation of air-conditioning systems.

National Federation Of Music Clubs Present Chorus Of 1500 Today

With a massed chorus of 1500 singers from all over the country, the National Federation of Music Clubs present a great music festival in the Court of Peace at 7:30 P.M. today in celebration of National Music Day.

The program will be devoted exclusively to American compositions and the featured soloist will be the 20-year old Brooklyn soprano, Longina Nano, winner of the New York Federation of Music Club's World's Fair contest for an American-born, American-trained singer.

At 2 P.M. the National Junior Orchestra of 52 pieces, under the direction of Lina Milan of Beaumont, Texas, will play at the Washington Statute on Constitution Mall at Washington Square, as part of the Federation's program.

The Pawtucket, R. I. High School Band will play at 2:30 P.M. The Federation's Junior Choir of 200 voices sings in the Temple of Religion at 6 P.M. The Boston University Choral Art Society, under the direction of H. Augustine Smith, renders a sacred concert in the Temple at 8:30 P.M.

The massed chorus will sing in the Court of Peace under the baton of Dr. John Warren Erb of New York University. In addition to choral groups from New York, New Jersey and Connecticut, singers from the states of Utah, South Carolina, Washington, Texas, Wisconsin, Rhode Island, Alabama, Ohio, Maryland and Pennsylvania will take part.

New York organizations which will sing in the Massed Chorus are the Allied Arts Glee Club, Florence Otis, director; Bronx Colony Club, Rose G. Rockwell, director; Conservatory of Musical Art Choral, Mrs. B. C. Van Valkenburgh, director; New York City Federation Choral, Kate Fowler Chase, director; Musical Arts Chorus, John Warren Erb, director; Smalzel Choral, Ellie Ebling Smalzel, director; World's Fair Choral Groups, Stanley Douglas, director; and the Madrigal Society, Marguerite Potter, director.

Participating groups from Brooklyn will be the Ash Choral, Meta Christensen, director; the Hamilton-Johnson Chorus, Wilbur P. Johnson, director; Chaminate, Amelie Gray-Clarke, director; Morning Choral, Herbert S. Sammond, director; the Vanderveer Park M. E. Church Choir, Edna Wykoff, director; and the St. John's M. E. Church Choir, James Craven, director.

Queens and Long Island choral groups singing with the Massed Chorus will be the Babylon Festival Chorus and the Bay Shore Choral Society, directed by Christos Vrionides; the Choral Society of the Moriches and the Riverhead Choral Society, directed by Edna Kaler Wilson; the Almhurst M. E. Church Choir, Lillian E. Burford, director; the Women's Choral of the Colony Club of Farmingdale and the Hicksville Choral Society, directed by Mrs. Elwood A. Curtis; the Women's Broadway Community Chorus of Flushing, Edith Baxter Harper, director; the Athena Club of Freeport, Kate Fowler Chase, director; the Jamaica Choral, Daniel Wood, director; the Lynwood Choral, Mrs. John Gullak, director; the Choral of the Women's Club of Queens Village, the Queens Baptist Women's Choral and the St. Joan of Arc Male Glee Club of Jackson Heights.

BARBARA HUTTON PLEASSED

Barbara (Five-and-Dime) Hutton likes the New York World's Fair very much, it would seem. She has returned several times to visit its various exhibits and amusements.

On her most recent visit, she was so well pleased with the courtesy and attentiveness of her roller chair boy that she gave him a personal note to a Woolworth executive. Imagine entering the Woolworth chain under such favorable auspices!

BEAUTY, SCULPTURE AND MODERN BUILDINGS PROMINENT AT FAIR
